

Family as Supporters & Role Models for Employment of People with Mental Health Conditions

30 second training for Families

How can families help with employment?

1. Serve as good role models in their own employment – taking work seriously.
2. Listening, showing concern for employment issues.
3. Providing good and accurate information about employment.
4. Offering tangible help when needed such as rides, leads to jobs, or computer instruction.
5. Provide encouragement & hope for all aspects of the employment journey.

Next

Choose the right answer

Families can help their loved one achieve employment by:

- 1 Being a good employment role model.
- 2 Providing consistent encouragement and hope.
- 3 Listening and providing good information.
- 4 All of the above.

The correct answer is #4
ALL OF THE ABOVE

Nice answer, but not the correct one. Keep looking!

Want to know more?

Go to our interactive website to read on how you can help your family member find their path to employment.

For further information contact us at 617-353-3549

The development of this training was supported by:

This training is made possible by a grant from the National Institute on Disability & Independent Living Rehabilitation Research (NIDILRR) within the Administration for Community Living, Department of Health and Human Services, Grant # 90DP0096

The contents of this presentation do not necessarily represent the policy of NIDILRR, ACL, HHS, and you should not assume endorsement by the federal government.

These slides are the property of the Trustees of Boston University. For information contact 617-353-3549.

Thank you for taking this short training. We hope you were able to learn something new and exciting.

For more information contact us at 617-353-3549 or visit our website: <https://cpr.bu.edu/about/>

BOSTON UNIVERSITY

Center for Psychiatric Rehabilitation